Religious Liberty
HB392	The Constitutions of the United States and Pennsylvania protect the religious freedom of individuals, including school students. However, many students attending public schools, as well as their families, fear that a student’s engaging in religious speech or activities will subject the student to discrimination, such as a denial of the privilege of speaking at a school-sponsored event. This legislation creating the Student Religious Liberties Act will provide certain protections to	Rep. Rob Kauffman (R) District 89	Support	Student Religious Liberties Act	More specifically, this bill will: Prohibit a public school entity from discriminating against a student who engages in the voluntary expression of a religious viewpoint on an otherwise permissible subject. Discriminate against a student who expresses religious beliefs in homework, artwork and other written and oral assignments. Allow a student to pray or engage in religious activity or religious expression before, during and after the school day in the same manner and to the same extent as a student may engage in secular activities or expression. Allow a student to wear clothing, accessories and jewelry displaying a religious symbol or message in the same manner and to the same extent that a student may wear clothing, accessories and jewelry that display a secular message or symbol. Prohibit a public school entity from discriminating against a student speaker based on the student's voluntary expression of a religious viewpoint on an otherwise permissible subject. Require the Department of Education to develop a model policy that is consistent with the act, and further require each public school entity to adopt the model policy or to adopt its own policy for the protection of student religious liberties that is consistent with the act. Preserve a public school entity's authority to maintain order and discipline on its school campus and protect the safety of school students, employees and visitors.

SB693	An Act prohibiting the mandatory COVID-19 vaccination of Pennsylvania residents by the Commonwealth, political subdivisions or as a condition of employment. The Medical Freedom Act will prohibit a state agency or political subdivision from mandating an individual to receive a COVID-19 vaccination. It also clearly states that an individual in the commonwealth may not be discriminated against, denied services, or denied medical care for refusal to accept a COVID-19 vaccination.	Sen. Doug Mastriano (R) District 33	Support	Medical Freedom Act	The Lancet, one of the world's oldest and best-known general medical journals, reported in an October 2021 study that COVID-19 vaccines have "minimal" impact on preventing transmission. A study by the New England Journal of Medicine in February 2022 came to a similar conclusion. Even the current director of the CDC, Rochelle Walensky, admitted in a 2022 interview that "Covid vaccines can't prevent transmission anymore." This new information further proves that all COVID vaccination decisions are personal decisions that should be made by the individual, including the right to informed consent or informed refusal. Many Pennsylvanians have lost and continue to lose their livelihoods and access to basic services due to misguided COVID vaccine mandates. This legislation will prohibit all employers in the state from taking any adverse employment action against an individual for the sole reason of the individual's decision to decline a COVID-19 vaccination. Last session, this bill was passed out of the Senate Health and Human Services committee.	Referred to HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES , May 15, 2023 [Senate]

SB682	An Act amending Title 23 (Domestic Relations) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, in miscellaneous provisions relating to marriage, repealing provisions relating to marriage between persons of the same sex. Legislation to bring our laws up to date by repealing Section 1704 (Marriage Between Persons of the Same Sex) of Title 23 (Domestic Relations) of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes, which currently only recognizes marriage between a man and woman.	Sen Carolyn Comitta (D) District 19	Oppose	Marriage Equality Act	The bottom line is that marriage is special union created as a holy covenant between man, woman, and God. It is the best institution by which our children are conceived. Marriage identifies the recognizable authority of a mother and a father who are ordained with the responsibility of rearing the future generation. We could never grant these same responsibilities to two heterosexuals who simply live together, because marriage is more than a living arrangement. All the love in the world can't make a mother into a father and a father into a mother. In a free country, everyone is free to live and love as they choose, but no one is entitled to redefine marriage for all of us. If marriage is redefined, then the family is redefined. This redefinition will require an adjustment on behalf of people of faith in most areas of public life, not the least of which is education. One simply follows the other. SB697	This bill amends Section 3307 of Title 18 (Institutional Vandalism) to enhance the existing statute and make several technical changes meant to give a district attorney expanded options for combating vandalism of sacred spaces such as faith institutions, cemeteries, or memorials.	Sen Sharif Street (D) District 3	Support	Protecting our Sacred Places	Over the past few years we've seen churches, synagogues, mosques, and other places of worship targeted deliberately by those who wish to express hate. Recently, a "National Day of Hate" garnered significant attention and warnings from law enforcement about possible attacks on religious institutions across the United States. This rhetoric has consequences. In Philadelphia alone, we've seen Jewish cemeteries targeted by vandals and just within the last few weeks the Masjidullah mosque was defaced. In Reading, the Jesus is Alive World Center was recently severely damaged. These acts or threats are meant to intimidate entire religious groups and an inadequate response from government allows them to develop into further violent acts of hate. This is unacceptable in our nation where we pride ourselves on our foundation of free exercise of religion.	Referred to JUDICIARY , May 15, 2023 [Senate]

Package of legislation intended to modernize our laws to address hate crimes and ethnic intimidation. Dan Frankel (D) District 23	Oppose	Anti-Hate Crimes Package	Violates equal protection by treating some victims as more worthy of protection than others. This package would add additional punishments for crimes committed against protected classes of people based on race, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, and more. Injects identity politics into Pennsylvania criminal law, enshrines "sexual orientation" as worthy of special protection. Does not define "sexual orientation," leaving that term open to expansion. The American Psychological Association and other LGBT activists are already pushing to have pedophilia reclassified as a sexual orientation. "Invites anonymous tips of so-called "hate based intimidation" that could blacklist and demonize those who speak up about human sexuality, marriage, and what it means to be male and female. This could further weaponize our cancel-culture and result in state-sanctioned discrimination." Rep. Mellissa Shusterman (D) District 157	Oppose	Funding for Family Planning Providers	Abortion is not healthcare and hurts women. Majority of Americans oppose tax funded abortions. For example, abortion increases the risk of women delivering future infants prematurely. Abortion also increases women's risk of developing breast cancer and mental illness. My legislation has been recognized nationally as the Heartbeat Bill. States all over the country are looking at abortion. The Pennsylvania Legislature has previously considered changing the limit on abortion to 20 weeks. While this is a significant move in the right direction, the fact is that even at 20 weeks abortion stops a baby's beating heart. If the baby has a heartbeat, then the abortion cannot be performed. This will eliminate the need to a gestational age in legislation and will honor the science which shows that more than 90 percent of all pregnancies are viable in which a heartbeat is detected. This legislation will be another great rallying cry for us to save babies around this state and possibly around the nation	Referred to HEALTH , March 13, 2023 [House]

HB932	It is crucial that parents and legal guardians have the ability to determine the upbringing, education, care, and welfare of their children. Currently Pennsylvania does not have a state statute that explicitly lists parental rights as fundamental rights. With the passing of this legislation, Pennsylvania would join 12 other states by recognizing these rights in statute. This bill clarifies that	Rep. Marla Brown (R) District 09	Support	Parental Bill of Rights	It is important to note that nothing in this legislation will authorize a parent or guardian to engage in conduct that is unlawful, or to abuse or neglect their child in violation of current laws. Looking at recent events it is evident that there is a need for this type of legislation now more than ever. We have seen parents alienated from decisions that are occurring in the classroom. Parents are constantly judged and labeled when making decisions regarding what they feel is best for their children's health care. It is time to give the power back to parents and establish that parental rights are fundamental rights. HB300	The Fairness Act has been introduced in Pennsylvania to prohibit discrimination in our state based on sex, sexual orientation or gender identity or expression. This bill will keep those who identify as LGBTQ+ from being denied housing, education, or access to public accommodations.	Rep. Malcom Kenyatta (D) District 181	Oppose	Fairness Act	HB300 will jeopardize the safety and opportunities for Pennsylvania female athletes. Individual male born athletes should not be eligible to participate on an athletic team that is exclusively for females. Are you okay with a teenage male showering next to your teenage daughter? Yes or No? Women have fought long and hard to gain status. Now, males self-identifying as women are celebrated in sports competitions; they steal women-owned business grants, and they invade female privacy in locker rooms and shelters. HB209	This legislation will remove an exemption currently allowing school libraries to possess and exhibit any legally obscene, even highly sexual content.	Rep. Barb Gleim (R) District 199	Support	Removing Obscene Material from Our School Libraries (prior HB 2815)	Under our current criminal law, no one may publicly exhibit or provide to a minor legally obscene materials. This can include materials which are so shocking as to qualify as sexual bestiality, sadomasochistic abuse, and patently offensive representations or descriptions of ultimate sexual activity. But while this prohibition applies generally across the Commonwealth, our current law also includes a puzzling exemption allowing any library in the state not only to possess these very same materials, but also to exhibit them and to make them available to minors. My bill will remove this exemption for primary and secondary school libraries. To be clear, current law does not prohibit all sexual content whatsoever - only obscene content, as that label has developed under our Constitution. Current law also does not prohibit subject matter which, when taken as a whole, has serious literary, artistic, political, educational or scientific value. HB138	If an individual entitled to bring a civil cause of action arising from gender affirmation treatment is a minor at the time the cause of action accrues, this legislation will permit that individual to file a cause of action prior to his or her 30th birthday. Our laws have long recognized that children are incapable of independently consenting to medical treatments and making other significant and life-altering decisions that require a certain degree of life experience and maturity.	Rep. Paul Schemel (R) District 90	Support	Gender Affirmation Therapy Statute of Limitations	The recent and rapid expansion of gender transition services offered to minors raises questions concerning both the long-term impact of chemical and surgical treatments falling under the general category of affirmation therapy and the adequacy of consent for such treatments by minor patients. The sole intent of this proposed legislation is to provide affected individuals additional time to bring a claim after they have reached the age of majority. This legislation will extend the statute of limitations for civil actions brought by individuals who underwent gender affirmation treatment as minors. Under current law, any plaintiff aggrieved by a medical procedure during his or her minority, including gender affirmation surgery, must file the cause of action prior to reaching 20 years of age. This extremely short window of time often proves inadequate and unreasonably restrictive for the children who underwent these procedures and only begin to suffer permanent physical and psychological harm years later in adulthood. Indeed, a growing body of research suggests that many individuals who undergo gender affirmation treatments as minors do not begin to experience complications or regret until their late 20s or early 30s; often, as a direct result of the permanent loss of fertility, sexual function, and the ability to form intimate relationships.
